PHOENIX, ARIZONA, FEBRUARY 9, 1901.

Last Thursday a Mrs. Burns, living near Yuma, was fatally killed with a bullet shot by a constable whose attempted execution of her was entirely excusable. A coroner's jury, we learn by a dispatch from Yuma, found that the killing "under the circumstances was not excusable." The photographs of the gentleman who composed this remarkable jury would, no doubt, be highly prized by those persons engaged in the business of collecting curiosities. The details of the tragedy are not now obtainable, but we can conceive of no "circumstances" in which the killing of a woman could have even the color of an excuse. It does not appear that the officer was acting in self defense of that fact would have been so prominently brought out that it would have been reported along with the extraordinary verdict. On the other hand, the circumstances could not have been such as to force the officer into a position of peril. Supposing that the woman was making an armed resistance and was threatening to kill him unless he retired, his retirement would have been both possible and natural.

Few men of normal disposition would, however, even in a position of the deadliest peril, kill a woman to save themselves. The citizens of Yuma must have considered this act far from justifiable, for it was feared that the jail would not be strong enough to prevent them from making a ghost of this slayer of women in the course of his official performances.

We believe that this constable will wish some time that instead of returning to Yuma after the slaughter and giving himself up, he had gone to the banks of the Colorado and buried himself in its yellow flood.

Meanwhile we await a description of the circumstances which the jury thought might be mitigating, though not wholly excusable.

A Havam dispatch yesterday says: "When are the Americans going to go away?" That is the question with which the CANO DE- Cubans are greeting one another. It was with curiosity a year ago. It was with misgivings and suspicion now. A year ago "Americano" was a word to conjure by. Now it is a term almost of detestation. McKim's picture and the stars and stripes were roundly hissed in the Teatro Cuba Sunday night, while tableaux glorifying "Cuba Libre" were madly cheered.

It is hard to say when the Americans are going away. Perhaps not at all. That depends upon the conduct of the Cubans themselves. But the Americans are certainly not going away while the kind of spirit indicated in the dispatch prevails in the island. It shows an infantile impudence of restraint not conducive to good self government. The United States is determined that Cuba shall be well governed. If the Cubans cannot govern Cuba properly we will continue to do it for them. It was on account of the lack of government that we got into the war with Spain. There was, of course, demagogical utterances in the press and even in the senate of the United States about the "Independence of Cuba." "The Freedom of Cuba," and all that. The United States never cared officially whether Cuba was independent or not. It never cared anything about Spanish cruelty, but we were irritated and annoyed by the racket that was kept up there and

Difficult Digestion

That is dyspepsia.
It makes life miserable.

Its sufferer eats not because they WANT to—but simply because they MUST.

They complain of a bad taste in the mouth, a tenderness at the pit of the stomach, a feeling of puffiness, headache, heartburn and what not.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured Joseph F. Laine, Flanagan, Ky., who writes: "I was troubled with dyspepsia for a number of years and took medicine that did me no good. I was advised by friends to try Hood's Sarsaparilla which I did and it put my bowels in perfect condition, gave me strength and energy and made me feel like a new person."

we proceeded to stop it as one does when he throws a bootjack into a group of quarreling cats. The Cubans independent, with their present ideas of independence would, no doubt, be as anxious as the Cubans and Spaniards together were, and then we would have to hurt more bootjacks at them.

There is one Spanish-American country that is not going to be a theater of disorder and internecine strife during the McKinley administration, and that is Cuba. The island may be granted self government within four years, but Uncle Sam will be near by all the time, ready to right things that go wrong.

An El Paso paper of recent date says: "R. C. Flower and S. L. Pearce of New York came in last evening from Chihuahua and went west this morning to look after mining properties in eastern Arizona." Let us see. It is not so long ago that buyers of certain Arizona Eastern and Montana shares were looking after "Dr." R. C. Flower. The "Dr." mining properties in eastern Arizona consist of the Spenazuma, assays of whose veins, ledges, dips, spurs and angles show them to run high in suckers.

The El Paso Daily News, editorially announcing a newspaper change in that city, says: "J. D. Ponder, whose name is synonymous with journalism, has chosen to join the News staff and give this paper the value of his ability. Mr. Ponder and El Paso are as one and the same thing." This greatly simplifies matters. Newspapersmen have been trying to think for several years of a proper definition of journalism. Let them ponder no longer. It is Ponder and El Paso, synonymous terms.

Yes, new words come into the English language occasionally. The latest is "Nationed." It applies to a circumstance such as the following: A building, used as a saloon, is blown up by nitro-glycerine, gunpowder, dynamite, and melinite, just at the moment lightning strikes it, and within three seconds a cyclone completes the work. The building is said to be "Nationed."

A freshman at Lawrence university Wisconsin, ate a pickled lizard on a wager with two young lady classmates, who faintly while the feast went on. That student should be exiled to the desert of Nevada, where the reptile-eating Plutes would give him congenial company.

Mr. Towne's opinion that the Philippine policy will not at once convert this republic into an empire, may lead some of the people who arranged to go to Washington next March in the hope of seeing a coronation, to demand their money back.

It is being generally predicted that since he has become a King Albert Edward will settle down. There is an impression to the effect that a man generally does that anyhow when he gets to be sixty years of age.

Uncle Russell Sage has gone on record with a statement that big railroad and other combinations are dangerous and undesirable. Uncle Russ must have been frozen out of a corner somewhere with neatness and precision.

A Chicago man is endeavoring to prove to a court that Rostand stole "Cyrano de Bergerac" from him. It would be strange if anything so large as "Cyrano" got past without Chicago having some sort of claim to it.

Emperor William's appointment as field marshal of the British army was hardly needed to annihilate all hope in Oom Paul's bosom that the Kaiser might relent and give him a chance to talk the matter over.

General Dewet seems bent on keeping up enough activity to prevent his kind of fighting from being confused with that which Aguinaldo is carrying on in the Philippines.

Some of Mr. Bryan's adverse critics are disposed to approve of the Commemorative as a name for his paper, owing to the fact that each issue is less out of the ordinary.

Prince Tuan is perfectly willing to wait in patience while the question of who is to have the honor of punishing him is argued out.

New Jersey may claim pre-eminence in every kind of law breaking, from

HERPICIDE
TO HAVE THICK, LUXURIANT HAIR
is the most longed-for desire of every woman. She knows what powerful aid to beauty it is, and endeavors to make her own as soft, glossy and thick as possible. Comparatively few of them are aware as yet that Newcomb's Herpicide, a recent scientific discovery, will enable them to possess hair as thick and luxuriant as anyone could desire.
It works on a new theory of destroying the germ that feeds upon the hair root, and this making it drop out and fall impossible. It then proceeds to produce a growth of thick, glossy hair that soon becomes the pride of its owner.

the organization of a trust by respected citizens down to a Hosschleier case.

If some law could be framed by which young couples could be granted divorces from mothers-in-law marital troubles would be greatly abated.

Mr. Bryan shrewdly declines to speak in Texas at present. He has not yet sized up the exact relations of the gold dollar and she oil well.

Much of Mr. Grau's trouble arises from the fact that so many people with grand opera tastes have music hall incomes.

When Secretary Gage gets his "elastic currency" will a dollar stretch any further than it does now?

Some day the oleo men may get a legislature and pass a bill to make farmers color their butter blue.

The "Post Scout" is very warmly endorsed by leading divines where he has lectured, and is justly popular with the Y. M. C. A. Mrs. L. H. Hamilton will render vocal solos at both services. Special music by the chorus.

SYRUP OF FIGS
NEVER IMITATED QUALITY.
An Excellent Combination.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well-known remedy, SYRUP OF FIGS, manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and acceptable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

THE POST SCOUT IN THE PULPIT.—Captain Jack Crawford will divide time with Parnon Rice in the Christian church tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock, but is not expected to make any gun play on that occasion. He frequently fills pulpits on occasions of offer with the highest satisfaction. Rev. U. Myers of the M. E. church in Catonsville, Pa., says: "I have heard some of the most famous speakers on the American platform, but none have interested me so fully nor captivated me more completely as did Captain Jack Crawford. No audience, however intelligent, will be disappointed in him. His talk to boys on dime novel reading is better than a sermon."
